PREMISE

One of the objectives of the MiFID Directive is to favor the growth of the European financial system, allowing the competition between regulated markets, multilateral trading systems (MTF) and authorized intermediaries within harmonized rules that guarantee efficiency and integrity of financial markets and transparency and investor protection.

In this context, in order to meet the needs of the Customers, BPER S.A. has adopted an operating system that allows - either directly or through negotiating intermediaries - access to the main execution Venues of the Financial Instruments most frequently treaded by its Customers, providing value services added, which guarantee high quality standards by looking for the Best Execution of orders based on market conditions.

The compliance function of BPER S.A. has monitored the activity and confirm that BPER S.A. promptly executed Client orders that are otherwise comparable, in the same sequence that they were received.

During the year 2020, BPER S.A. continued to apply its well-tested trading processes and there were no instances of unpermitted practices that occurred during the period.

It is worth noting that BPER S.A.

- may not direct orders to brokers in return for any gifts or entertainment;
- may not direct orders to brokers if any conflict of interests exists and which can't be mitigated;
- may not receive any remuneration, discount or non-monetary benefit for routing Clients orders to broker or Execution Venue which would infringe the requirements on conflict of interest or inducements.

BEST EXECUTION REQUIREMENTS

In accordance with the MiFID Directive, the Bank who execute orders on Financial Instruments on behalf of their Clients must take the necessary actions to obtain the best possible result (c.d. Best Execution).

The Best Execution applies without distinction to all Financial Instruments, whether they are listed on regulated markets or not, regardless of the place of trading (regulated markets, multilateral trading systems, Systematic Internalisers or Over the Counter ), with reference to the services of execution of orders, but also, with different gradations, to those for receiving and transmitting orders and managing portfolios.

The Bank in determining the strategy of transmission and execution of orders, must take into consideration the following factors:

- price of the Financial Instrument and execution costs;

- speed of execution;
- likelihood of execution and settlement;
- order size;
- nature of the order;
- any other circumstance which, in the Bank's opinion, is relevant to the execution of a particular order.

The Bank attributes a specific order of importance to each of the aforementioned factor categories of Financial Instrument and for each type of Customer and, on the basis of this, select Execution Venues, and / or negotiating intermediaries to be used to guarantee the long-term achievement of the best possible result for the execution of orders.

Where a Financial Instrument is traded on multiple Execution Venues and/or may be executed via multiple Approved Counterparties, the Bank will consider having the trade executed on the market where liquidity is highest, considering that this is the most appropriate option for the Client regarding the most advantageous execution in terms of price, execution speed and probability of settlement.

RECEIVING AND ORDERS TRANSMISSION ACTIVITIES

BPER S.A. has carried out an analysis between the services and the costs offered by various intermediaries. This analysis was carried out with the aim of defining the reference traders to be used for an order transmission and execution strategy aimed at ensuring the best possible execution of the orders of its Customers, taking into account the nature of the orders themselves, the Execution Venues, the negotiating intermediaries the Bank has access to and the types of Financial Instruments, of which this document constitutes an informative summary.

In particular BPER S.A., has taken into consideration the following factors:

1. the characteristics of its Customers (mainly those of "professional" Customers which constitute the vast majority of the Bank's Customers and have a broad interest in financial markets and type instruments).
2. the costs applied by intermediaries;
3. access to the various Execution Venues or intermediaries;

TOP 5 VENUES

BPER S.A. selects the counterparties exclusively based on the best price and availability of the financial assets related to the orders and does not apply any fees that would unduly discriminate between the various Execution Venues.

No specific arrangements are in place with any of the Venues and counterparties listed in the transaction reporting listing the 5 top Venues/Counterparties used by the bank regarding payments made or received, discounts, rebates or non-monetary benefits received. As a consequence NO payments, discounts, rebates or non-monetary benefits are made to or received from those entities.

During 2020 the Bank used on average the same counterparties used in previous year with only very few new counterparties among the largest 5 in any asset class and typically for amounts and percentage that were relatively immaterial.
